THE SALMAGUNDI CLUB

The Salmagundi Club started as a sketch class in the studio of Jonathan Scott Hartley at 596 Broadway, in the fall of 1871.

The group was composed of sculptors, painters, illustrators, an actor and a writer.

Included in this group were a few lay members, keenly interested in the arts, and this association of artists and laymembers today has welded the Club into a finely balanced family.

Over the years the Club has had many homes. In 1893 the Club took possession of the house at 14 West 12th Street, where it remained for some twenty years, gaining in stature and importance.

During 1917 the Salmagundi Club purchased its present location, the home of William G. Park, originally built for Irad Hawley in 1854 (N. Y. City Directory 1855=1856).

Club Night at the Salmagundi by Arthur W. Woelfle

The generosity and loyalty of the members, through contributions of money and paintings which were sold at auction, enabled the Club to purchase this home.

The Salmagundi's library is considered the finest art reference library in America.

The Club has a collection of paintings and art objects running well over a hundred thousand dollars.

Billiard room, grill, card room, exhibiting gallery, lounge, etc. make it an ideal place for social and cultural development.

The card room is beautifully decorated with a frieze of pallettes of America's most famous and distinguished painters.

The activities of the Club during the year are many.

Exhibitions of artist members' work are shown in all media, for which prizes are awarded for outstanding work. The annual auction is an interesting feature bringing revenue to both the Club and the artist. All Exhibitions are open to the public.

The Get-together and Get-away dinners, the Christmas Tree Party and the New Year's Eve celebration are all gala affairs.

Lectures, demonstrations by artist members and varied forms of educational and entertaining evenings are given throughout the year. Special evenings designated by the Club include ladies as guests.

Throughout its history the Salmagundi Club's roster has included some of America's most distinguished citizens, to name a few — Edwin A. Abbey, William M. Chase, John La Farge, Montague Glass, George A. Hearn, George Inness, Joseph Isidor, J. Francis Murphy, Tony Pastor, Howard Pyle, Henry Ranger, J. Sanford Saltus, William H. Shelton, F. Hopkinson Smith, Samuel T. Shaw, Louis C. Tiffany, Alexander J. Wall, Stanford White, Anders Zorn, etc.

Each year the Salmagundi Medal of Honor and Merit is awarded to a member for outstanding achievement.

An enthusiastically attended sketch class is held weekly in the gallery. Models are supplied by the Club.

FOREWORD

The Salmagundi Club, in holding this 75th Anniversary Exhibition, introduces an innovation. Ever mindful of our position and the obligation we owe to those who are our comrades in Art, we inaugurate, as one of our post-war activities, this Annual Event.

We have with us an invited number of Artists of note, both painters and sculptors, and joined by our own member Artists, we thus compete for prizes so generously given by our patrons.

Each year our showing will comprise a varied selection of important names in American Art augmented by outstanding works by Salmagundians. Our aim is to make this Annual Exhibition one of the most distinguished in the country.

The Jury of Selection and the Jury of Awards are carefully chosen from sources without the Club.

It is our hope that these invitees will come to know us better and will understand that we seek to encourage and foster an inspiring expression of the Fine Arts which will be of service to the Nation.

To our Friends and Public—we invite you to our Gallery and hope you will enjoy these works and this endeavor to which you are so important a part.

Faithfully yours,

FREDERICK K. DETWILLER,
President.
